Graphic designer with over a decade of experience in collaborating with studios, agencies and clients in the development and execution of design projects that are concept-driven, research-based, and type-led. In addition – a design educator, teaching university-level graphic design & typography since 2009.

Highly experienced in a wide range of design surfaces, for any media and scale, from idea to production: books and other complex printed matter; strategic branding and identity programs for clients in various industries; web, mobile and other interactive experiences; wayfinding systems, environmental graphics, cross-platform campaigns, etc.

Enjoys sharing knowledge and opinions, and experienced in taking projects independently or collaboratively. Curious when working in new and unfamiliar media or disciplines, and having equal motivation when dealing with big ideas or scrutinizing minor details.

Aiming to practice a dexterous design process that interweaves two working methods: a free, playful and intuitive approach, and a research-driven path; believes solutions may be found by either method, but are refined by the combination.

Passionate about graphic design and typography, and interested in their theory, history, practice, craft, education and technology.

Drawn to design that employs one or more of the following traits: humor; unique use of language; interplay of different media; the use of subtle gestures to create meaning and impact; and broad systems, structures and seriality.

Looking for relevant design leadership opportunities as full-time, part-time or freelance in studios, agencies or in-house departments that are thoughtful about their clients just as they are about the public and the profession.
